

Advice following a colonoscopy or sigmoidoscopy with sedation

Information and advice for patients

Endoscopy

You have had a colonoscopy or sigmoidoscopy with sedation. This means you may feel drowsy for up to 24 hours. You will need someone to take you home and stay with you for the next 12 hours.

Pain

You may experience some tummy pain and discomfort following this procedure due to the air we have put into your bowel. Walking around and taking simple painkillers such as paracetamol will help. You may also pass small amounts of blood following the test, this is normal.

Normal activities

For the next 24 hours it is important that you do not:

- operate machinery
- drive a car - it is illegal to drive under the influence of midazolam (a medication used for procedural sedation)
- drink alcohol
- sign any legal documents

Results

We will send a copy of your colonoscopy or sigmoidoscopy report to the doctor or nurse who referred you for the procedure.

We will also send a copy of this to your GP.

If your GP referred you for the procedure please make an appointment to see them.
